

Mental Health and Alcohol and Other Drugs: Qualification Review

Evolving with change

The human services sector is changing rapidly, adapting to different approaches and techniques, and demanding a highly skilled and committed workforce.

Our Mental Health and Other Drugs Qualification Project will review current training packages and seek feedback from stakeholders to ensure that qualifications are closely aligned with industry requirements.

There will be multiple qualifications, units of competency and skills sets reviewed as part of this project and we welcome your contribution.

Benefits of being involved

Your involvement in this project is important and will help:

- contribute to shaping the qualifications that support Mental Health and Alcohol and Other Drug National strategies
- build a skilled and capable alcohol and other drug workforce
- support the development of a framework for graduates to build the skills to enter the sector's workforce.

How to get involved

Please visit humanability.com.au find out more about the project and to register for project alerts, updates and consultation opportunities.
