Recognition of prior learning

Recognition of prior learning (RPL) is an assessment process that involves assessment of an individual's relevant prior learning and experience (including skills and knowledge obtained through formal and informal learning) to determine the extent to which they meet the requirements specified in a training product.

Training products include AQF qualifications, units of competency, skill sets and accredited short courses.

Introduction

This guide has been designed to help you gather and record evidence to support an RPL assessment against the CHC30121 Certificate III in Early Childhood Education and Care.

As an early childhood educator, you must hold – or be actively working towards – this National Quality Framework (NQF) approved qualification or its equivalent to work with children preschool age and under in a family day care or centre-based service.

To be awarded the CHC30121 Certificate III in Early Childhood Education and Care, you will need to meet the requirements of fifteen (15) core units of competency and two (2) elective units of competency.

To streamline the assessment process, these units have been grouped into the following skill areas:

- ▷ Skill Area 1: Children's Health & Safety
- ▷ Skill Area 2: Professional Practice
- ▷ Skill Area 3: Relationships with Children
- ▷ Skill Area 4: Families & Communities

Each skill area contains a group of related (similar) units which have been consolidated to remove all duplicated/equivalent content. This means you will not have to repeat any steps – or answer the same question more than once – as you work through this guide.

Once you've answered the questions and gathered a portfolio of evidence, you'll be able to identify:

- ▷ the skill areas where your current strengths are
- ▷ the skill areas where you need to gather further evidence, or undertake gap training, to meet the full requirements of the CHC30121 Certificate III in Early Childhood Education and Care (or units of competency from the qualification).

To validate the RPL process, you'll need to provide this completed guide and your evidence portfolio to a registered training organisation (RTO) with the CHC30121 Certificate III in Early Childhood Education and Care on its scope of registration. An assessor from the RTO will ask you to participate in an interview, and they may also ask you to complete specific tasks in a workplace to demonstrate that your skills and knowledge are current.

To discover more about RTOs, go to the 'Where To From Here?' section at the back of this guide.

Instructions

The RPL process promoted in this guide involves the following six steps.

Step 1: Self-evaluation

Answer the self-evaluation questions and complete the tables in this guide. This is a self-paced activity, so take as much time as you need. Remember to save your work at regular intervals by pressing Ctrl+S.

As you work through the self-evaluation questions, you will be prompted to gather a portfolio of documents, photos and videos – collectively known as ‘evidence’ – to support your RPL assessment. This guide (once completed) will form part of your evidence.

You will need to save a copy of your completed guide, along with digital copies of the evidence you gather, to a flash drive or file hosting service.

Step 2: Evidence review

An assessor from an RTO will review your completed guide and portfolio of evidence.

Step 3: Knowledge questions

The assessor will interview you on two (or more) occasions, where they will ask you a series of knowledge-based questions.

Step 4: Workplace observation (if required)

If required, the assessor will observe you complete one or more work tasks in a children’s education and care service or simulated work environment.

Step 5: Third-party reporting (if required)

If required, referee reports will be requested from suitably qualified people who have worked with you in positions of responsibility.

Step 6: Assessment decision

The assessor will review all of the evidence gathered through Steps 1 to 5, and then decide if you meet the requirements of the CHC30121 Certificate III in Early Childhood Education and Care.

The assessor may determine that you meet the requirements of some, but not all, of the units that make up the qualification. If this is the case, you will need to undertake ‘gap training’ before you can be awarded the CHC30121 Certificate III in Early Childhood Education and Care.

What type of evidence do I need to gather?

Evidence

As mentioned previously, this guide has been designed to help you gather evidence to support an RPL assessment against the CHC30121 Certificate III in Early Childhood Education and Care (or units from the qualification).

Evidence is critical to the RPL assessment process. An assessor will need to carefully consider the evidence you provide when they make a decision about your competence, and they must be certain the evidence meets the following rules:

- ▷ It is related to the units of competency (valid)
- ▷ There is enough to make a decision (sufficient)
- ▷ It shows that you are competent 'now' (current)
- ▷ It is your own work (authentic).

Digital evidence

It is recommended that you digitise the evidence you gather and save it to an easy-to-find folder on a flash drive or file hosting service (e.g. Dropbox, Google Drive, iCloud or OneDrive). This will make it easier when it comes time to provide your completed guide and evidence portfolio to an RTO.

If you decide to use a file hosting service to store your digital evidence, you will need to be aware of any file size/storage limits, as this may impact your capacity to upload large files such as videos and photographs. You will also need to ensure the file hosting service has rigorous data security measures in place if you intend to upload sensitive information.

Hard-copy evidence

While it is recommended that you digitise your evidence, you certainly don't have to. You may have a storage box, or a desk drawer, where you keep all of your work-related documentation. If your evidence is mostly hard-copy in nature, you will need to ensure it is easily transportable to an RTO.

Using the evidence tables in this guide

At various points in this guide, you'll be prompted to list your evidence in an evidence table, including its name, date, type and location. You'll also need to identify the question number or unit of competency it relates to. Try to be as accurate as possible when you record this information.

You can identify the same piece of evidence (e.g. a reflective journal) more than once, but only if it is relevant. If you do list something more than once, make sure you specify the question numbers and/or units it relates to.

What type of evidence do I need to gather?

Evidence (cont.)

Type of evidence

The type of evidence you gather is entirely up to you, and it is only limited by your imagination. However, you may consider gathering and storing the following evidence as you work through this guide:

- ▷ Your resume or curriculum vitae
- ▷ Photos or videos of your work activities (noting images of children must have requisite approvals, permissions and consents)
- ▷ Certificates or transcripts from courses you have completed
- ▷ Records of professional development activities you have completed
- ▷ Reflective journals or work-related diaries you have kept
- ▷ Letters or references from employers, families and community groups
- ▷ Job descriptions of your current and previous work roles
- ▷ Performance reviews you have undertaken
- ▷ Service procedures you have followed, such as:
  - communication procedures
  - emergency evacuation procedures
  - excursions procedures
  - diversity and inclusion procedures
  - mandatory reporting procedures
- ▷ Minutes of meetings you have conducted or attended
- ▷ Footage from webinars you have conducted or attended
- ▷ Reports, articles or publications you have prepared or contributed to
- ▷ Email, text or video-based communications with employers, families, colleagues and community groups
- ▷ Awards you have received.

Service procedures

If you include a service procedure as evidence, you must clarify how, when and why you followed the procedure. For example, an email exchange with your supervisor or employer (with redactions to protect their privacy) would be sufficient to confirm that you have followed a particular procedure.

If the procedure is not a public document, you will need written permission to use it (from the document owner).

How can I address the mandated work hours?

Mandated work hours

To achieve the CHC30121 Certificate III in Early Childhood Education and Care, you will need to have completed at least 160 hours (e.g. 4–5 weeks) of work in a regulated children's education and care service in Australia.

This is specified in the following five units of competency:

- ▷ CHCECE031 Support children's health, safety and wellbeing
- ▷ CHCECE032 Nurture babies and toddlers
- ▷ CHCECE033 Develop positive and respectful relationships with children
- ▷ CHCECE035 Support the holistic learning and development of children
- ▷ CHCECE036 Provide experiences to support children's play and learning

You must have performed the activities outlined in these five units over a collective period of 160 hours, and you must have evidence to confirm this.

If you currently work (or have previously worked) in a children's education and care service, you can provide performance reviews or references from your employers as evidence that you have met the mandated work hours.

If you have not worked in a regulated children's education and care service in Australia, you may need to contact an RTO and discuss the possibility of arranging one or more work placements with suitable employers to address the mandated work hour requirement.

What is NQF- approval?

NQF-approval

The National Quality Framework (NQF) offers a national approach for early childhood education and care services across Australia. Among many other things, the NQF identifies:

- ▷ approved Certificate III level qualifications for early childhood educators
- ▷ approved first aid qualifications for early childhood educators
- ▷ approved learning frameworks for early childhood education and care services.

Approved Certificate III level qualifications

As a minimum requirement, early childhood educators must hold – or be actively working towards – an approved Certificate III level education and care qualification.

The CHC30121 Certificate III in Early Childhood Education and Care is the most current NQF-approved Certificate III level qualification. This guide has been designed to support RPL assessments against this qualification.

For information on approved Certificate III level qualifications, go to:
www.acecqa.gov.au/qualifications/nqf-approved

Approved first aid qualifications

Early childhood educators must hold an approved first aid qualification that covers asthma and anaphylaxis emergencies.

For information on approved first aid qualifications, go to:
www.acecqa.gov.au/qualifications/nqf-approved

Approved learning frameworks

There are two nationally approved learning frameworks which outline practices that support and promote children's learning. There is also one approved learning framework specific to Victoria.

For more information on approved learning frameworks, go to:
www.acecqa.gov.au/nqf/national-law-regulations/approved-learning-frameworks

How do I find an RTO?

Where to from here?

Once you've completed the questions in this guide and gathered a portfolio of evidence, you'll need to undertake a formal RPL assessment against the CHC30121 Certificate III in Early Childhood Education and Care.

This will confirm whether you have the necessary skills and knowledge to work as an educator in a regulated children's education and care service.

The formal assessment will need to be undertaken by a qualified assessor through a registered training organisation (RTO).

It is worth noting that RTOs are required to offer RPL to individual learners, as this is a condition of their registration.*

Use the following steps to find RTOs in your state or territory that currently offer the CHC30121 Certificate III in Early Childhood Education and Care:

- ▷ Go to the National Register of VET (<https://training.gov.au>)
- ▷ Type 'CHC30121' in the keyword search box
- ▷ Make sure the 'Nationally recognised training' button is selected
- ▷ Click the 'Search' button
- ▷ When the qualification details open, scroll down and click 'Find RTOs approved to deliver this qualification'
- ▷ Select your state or territory from the filter boxes at the left of screen

In some situations, the most suitable RTO may be located in another state or territory. If so, be sure to check if government subsidies are available for RPL assessments in your own state/territory, and whether these still apply if you enrol with an RTO in another jurisdiction.
